1. What is a Contract?

A contract is a legally binding agreement between two or more parties that creates mutual obligations enforceable by law. It can be written, oral, or implied by conduct.

2. What Are the Essential Elements of a Valid Contract?

- Offer: A clear proposal made by one party to another indicating a willingness to enter into an agreement.
- Acceptance: The unequivocal agreement to the terms of the offer by the other party.
- Consideration: Something of value exchanged between the parties.
- Intention to Create Legal Relations: Both parties must intend the agreement to have legal consequences.
- Capacity: Parties must have the legal capacity to contract, meaning they are of sound mind, of age, and not disqualified by law.
- Legality: The subject matter must be lawful.

3. What Types of Contracts Are There?

Contracts can be classified based on their formation and purpose:

Express Contracts Parties explicitly state the terms, either orally or in writing. Implied Contracts Terms are inferred from conduct, circumstances, or the nature of the relationship. Unilateral Contracts One party makes a promise in exchange for the act of another. Bilateral Contracts Both parties exchange mutual promises.

Voidable Valid initially but can be canceled by one party due to specific reasons (e.g., misrepresentation, duress, undue influence).

- Acceptance: Unconditional agreement to the offer's terms.

Acceptance must mirror the offer precisely; any variation constitutes a counter-offer.

Special Topics in Contract Law

Contracts are interpreted based on:

- The plain meaning of the words used.
- The context and circumstances surrounding the agreement.

A valid contract under English law must satisfy several essential elements:

- Offer: One party must make a clear, unequivocal proposal to enter into an agreement.

Answer:

Offer and acceptance are fundamental to forming a contract. The process involves:

Rules and Principles:

- The "mirror image rule" states acceptance must exactly match the offer.

 - Instantaneous communication (e.g., phone, email) requires acceptance to be received to be effective.

- What is consideration, and why is it necessary?

Question:

Why is consideration essential in contract law, and what does it entail?

Answer:

Consideration refers to something of value exchanged between parties, which is necessary to validate a contract under English law. It serves as evidence that both parties intend to enter into a binding agreement.

Features of Consideration:

- Must be sufficient but need not be adequate (the law generally does not judge the fairness of consideration).
- Can be a promise to do something or refrain from doing something.
- Can be past, present, or future, but only if it is part of the current bargain (past consideration is generally not valid).
- Must move from the promisee; a third party cannot provide consideration unless there is a specific exception.
